The heaped-up island in Copenhagen harbour was used as a paper warehouse for a long time and was most recently the location of a well-known street food market. The city centre is directly connected via a pedestrian and cycle bridge. The Royal Opera House is located on the neighbouring island.
Hotel	128 rooms in a new building complex, six of which have their own outdoor area. The symbol of the island served the Swedish interior design team as inspiration for the hotel design, which reminds visitors of a stay in a Scandinavian holiday home. Natural colours and materials offer hotel guests a relaxed counterpoint to the hustle and bustle of the city. Just like the holiday home, which has been in the family for a long

25hours is developing a colourful and lively culinary journey through the cuisines of Asia. Without following trends and rules too closely, the team follows its own senses and flavours. Product and flavour are what count on the plates, not Instagrammability. Guests are mainly seated at communal tables or along the kitchen counter. Almost all dishes are of course also suitable for takeaway.

NOMAD DAY BAR: The hotel's day bar with 42 seats in the building and 32 seats on a terrace on the quay makes the ground floor of the hotel a lively meeting place. The food and drink concept is mainly created around products from local suppliers. In addition to a healthy breakfast menu and all-day snacks, a selection of aperitifs and wines in the evening will make the Nomad Day Bar a starting point for a trip into the city or to the opera.

ROOFTOP BAR with 97 seats and a private dining room with 14 seats

From the early evening onwards, the bar invites you to enjoy cosy drinks in front of the fireplace or directly by the windows to enjoy the beautiful view of Copenhagen harbour.
